THE NEED

A leading event management company had a challenge of not reaching out to its associated effectively due to the expansive nature of transcripts from the events and the time it took to compile.

THE SOLUTION

Our experienced off-shore team proposed a tweak from a verbatim transcript to smart-summarized transcripts to add value to the work being done.

Relevant details were highlighted while redundant information was eliminated from the transcripts to help associated focus on relevant points and take informed decisions quickly.

ADVANTAGE

The client was in a position to improve its business by introducing a better way of sharing information to its associates.

Off-shore team's foresight to identify issues around prioritized tasks was well appreciated.
